

Create Your Own Mingle just like

OPAL MOONBABY

Opal Moonbaby has the Mingle Manual and the Minmangulator to build her mingles (to find out more about mingles turn to the back of this sheet!). Sadly, the Minmangulator is too large to post so you'll just have to use this sheet to create your own!

Pick all the favourite bits of your favourite animals and draw how it would all combine together into your very own mingle!

Don't forget: EARS ★ EYES ★ WHISKERS ★ NOSE

Extract from OPAL MOONBABY:

“Then something wonderful happened. The fluffy creature that was lying so contentedly in Opal Moonbaby’s arms suddenly produced webbed wings, like a bat’s, and flapped up into the air. It glided across the room and landed on the windowsill. It folded the wings against its body and settled down for a nap in the sunshine.

“How’s that?” said Opal, looking pleased with herself.

“Amazing!” said Robbie, his mouth hanging open. “Magic!”

“What kind of animal is he?” asked Martha in astonishment. She had an encyclopaedia of animals from all over the world, but there was nothing quite like this in there.

“Garnet is a mingle,” announced Opal.

“He is several animals rolled into one. All their best bits have been mingled and merged together. He has the eyes of an owl, the ears and tail of a lynx, the fur of a Persian cat, the wings of a flying fox, the nostrils of a stoat and the intelligence of a pot-bellied pig. Quite a combination, don’t you think?”

“But how is that possible?” asked Robbie.

“It isn’t,” said Martha. “It’s ridiculous.”

It was a wild and wonderful idea but it was totally mad. The girl had to be making it up.

“I’m not making it up,” Opal said.

“I merged him myself. I selected all my favourite animal elements from the Mingle Manual, keyed them into the Minmangulator and five minutes later out he popped. He really is quite the cutest and most splendid mingle I ever managed.” She hopped up onto the windowsill next to Garnet and stroked his head. Immediately he began a loud rumbling purr.”
